Re: Important Updates

I hope everyone had a restful Veteran's Day with their family. I would like to take this opportunity to thank those of you in our NDCA family that are Veteran's. Thank you for your service!

- At this time as you are aware we are still a school in the yellow zone. The Governor has put an executive order in place that we MUST TEST 20% of the school community, students, faculty and staff. While I am aware that this was not in our opening plan we are now faced with this Executive order that we must follow in order to keep our doors open. The testing will begin next week and take place one day each week until we are no longer in the yellow zone. Please be aware that if we cannot produce a 20% testing sample each week, we will be forced to go remote this is necessary for us to remain open. As soon as we have the consent forms they will be sent home.
- Tomorrow Friday, November 13th is CRAZY HAT DAY. This is a $3 dress down for the children to be creative and come in with crazy hats. They are also permitted to dress down.
- Monday, November 16th is also our PDHP Workshop, #parents login information is as follows:
